The American Flag will Wave at the World's Fair

OVER A THOUSAND FEET HIGH.

A Structure that Will Outdo Eiffel's Tower—It will Contain 25,000 People—Details of the Plan Adopted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The stars and stripes it was decided, were to wave 1120 feet above the ground—higher than ever the flag has waved before. It is to be done during the World's Fair from an American tower that will out-do Eiffel at Paris.

The builder is to be Andrew Carnegie of Pittsburg. Over 25,000 people will be accommodated in the tower at one time and two of the many elevators are to start from the ground and run more than 1000 feet up, without change or stop, directly to the lookout landing.

The width of the tower at the fountain level is 440 feet in each direction.

After long and careful study the designs have been completed by Engineer George S. Morrison of this city. The actual cost will be about $1,500,000. The cost of the Eiffel tower was a little less that $1,700,000. The three landings will be circular platforms, the first 250 feet in diameter and 200 feet from the ground. The second will be 150 feet in diameter and 450 feet from the ground, and the upper landing, more properly called "the lantern" will be 60 feet in diameter and 1000 feet above the ground. At the first landing there will be a grand colonnade around the side fifteen feet wide and 750 feet mean circumference. On this colonnade four or five thousand people can be accommodated at one time. Inside of this colonnade will be space in addition to the space required for elevators and machinery, sufficient to build four hotels or restaurants.

In addition to the restaurants there will be provided numerous kiosks or booths constructed in accordance with the architecture, styles and customs of various countries. Within the restaurant space eight thousand guests may be comfortably seated and served at one time.

The second landing is designed as a grand promenade and picnic quarters in the day time, and as a dancing hall in the evening. It will accommodate at one time 5000 to 6000.

The upper landing is to be finished as the grand look out, will be two or three stories high, and accommodate at one time twelve to fifteen thousand. Above this will be four offices for signal service, and above this is the light house, to be provided with the most powerful revolving light ever constructed, surrounded by the flag staff and the stars and stripes.

New York, Oct. 16.—An Ohio editor having written to Mr. Blaine that the Democratic papers were misrepresenting him as an opponent of the McKinley bill, he replies as follows:

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 15.

To John Reid, Editor of The Journal, Mansfield, O.:

MY DEAR SIR: You inform me that the Democratic papers in your town and throughout Ohio keep the following paragraph standing in type:

"But there is not a section or line in the entire bill (McKinley tariff) which will open a market for another bushel of wheat or another barrel of pork.

James G. Blaine to Reporter Reid, July 11, 1890."

This sentence is garbled and taken from its proper connection. It gives a wrong impression. What I did say is this: "I do not doubt that in many respects the tariff bill pending in the senate is a just one, and that most of its provisions are in accordance with the established policy of protection, but there is not a section nor a line in the entire bill that will open a market for another bushel of wheat or another pound of pork."

The letter in which this passage occurs was written to Senator Frye on July 11, 1890, and the McKinley bill did not become a law until Oct. 1st, nearly three months thereafter. In my letter to Senator Frye I objected to the bill that it did not contain a reciprocity clause, which would provide a market for wheat and pork, and for other products of the farm, and for various fabrics. Before the bill was finally passed the reciprocity clause was inserted, and its provisions are made to the free list. It will therefore be seen from what I said in my letter, that the objection I made to the McKinley bill was entirely removed before the bill became a law. Let me say further that the reciprocity clause has given ample market for many bushels of flour and many pounds of pork.

Brazil, some months since, entered into a treaty by which many American articles are admitted free. Flour is one item, and pork is admitted at a nominal duty. Cuba and Porto Rico have reduced the duty on flour from $3.60 a barrel to $1, which gives us the market, by the time putting in my one hundred million of American production on the free list.

San Domingo has made a reciprocity treaty, with flour and pork upon the free list, besides a large number of other articles. Other treaties for reciprocity are in progress.

Germany, without negotiating a formal treaty, has removed the prohibition on pork and our government, in consideration thereof, has left her sugar on the free list. This opens to us an entirely new market and $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 of American pork will be consumed per annum where not a pound has been taken for ten years.

The reciprocity provision is proving very successful, especially in farm products, and more particularly in the two of the two articles mentioned in the paragraph quoted—flour and pork.

I am not, therefore, an opponent of the McKinley bill, as the Democratic papers of Ohio are constantly alleging. On the contrary, I have cordially supported it ever since it was perfected by the insertion of the reciprocity clause.

Very Respectfully Yours,
JAMES G. BLAINE.

Campbell Not Withdrawing.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16.—Governor Campbell is speaking at Bowling Green, O., today. The information is conveyed in a special to The Dispatch that the governor says that the New York Record's accusation of statements for which he challenged to prove them for libel, is not sufficient. He demands that the identity of Ralph Wilkinson, the alleged author of the sensational article be revealed, or the suit for libel will be pushed.

Trans-Mississippi Congress.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 16.—The meeting of the Transmississippi Commercial congress in this city, commencing Monday next and continuing until Friday, will be largely attended, and there seems to be every indication that the meeting will be an interesting and successful affair. There will be at least 300 delegates in attendance and a long list of important subjects has been prepared for presentation to the congress, among them being: "Corn as Food;" "Irrigation of Arid Lands;" "Deep Water and Harbors on the Gulf;" "Transportation;" "Business in Foreign Countries by American Citizens;" "Mining, Mines and Mineral Lands;" "Immigration;" "Investments by Foreigners;" "Indian Reservations;" "Sales of Timber Lands;" "Bankrupt Law;" "Admission of Territories;" "Overflow of Rivers;" "Coinage of Silver;" "Manufactories in Transmississippi States;" "Railroads;" "Waterways," etc.

It is expected that the congress will attract at least 2000 visitors to the city.

A Serious Strike.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 16.—The strike of railroad coal miners, which has been on for several weeks, assumed a serious phase today. In connection with a [illegible] nearly 100 foreigners—[illegible] Hungarians were brought to this city. And are now at work at Leetsville and at Smithton in the vicinity. But only a few number more are expected. A large force of foreigners has left for the strikers [illegible] this afternoon circulars were sent to every opinion in the district asking that no coal be mined for shipment by rail. If the miners obey the circular it will mean an almost total suspension of work in the mines of the district as nearly all of the river mines are now supplying coal to the railroads. About 12,000 miners are now out and if the river men strike there will be 8000 more.

Colonel Offley's Funeral.

FORT STANTON, N. M., via Carlisle, N. M., Oct. 15.—Colonel Offley, Tenth infantry United States army, was buried in the military cemetery at this post this afternoon with military honors. The escort, commanded by Col. J. N. Sheridan, Second cavalry, consisted of band and Company E, Tenth infantry and Troop G Second cavalry. The pall bearers were Captain Korkinan, Tenth infantry, Captain Babbitter, assistant surgeon United States Army, Lieutenant Plummer Tenth infantry, Lieutenant Bucker Second cavalry, and Lieutenants Littell and Brewster, Tenth infantry. Two sons of Colonel Offley were present, Mr. E. H. Offley of El Paso and Sergeant R. S. Offley of the signal corps.

Mrs. Offley will make her home for the present with her son-in-law Mr. Davis of Cheyenne. Colonel Offley had been suffering some weeks with dysentery contracted while in camp with his troops in search of water, the supply of the post having given out. He was confined to bed for only two weeks.

Next Year's Association.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—A special to The Evening Post from Louisville, says: There are to be twelve clubs in the association next year. This is almost certain, and is the scheme which Von Der Ahe, Phelps and other magnates have been working upon of late. The following cities are those which will next year make up the association circuit: Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City, Cincinnati and Milwaukee in the west and Boston, Baltimore, New York, Brooklyn, Washington and Philadelphia in the east. As will be seen Kansas City and Cincinnati are to be annexed in the west, while Columbus, a very poor ball town, is to be dropped. In the east New York and Brooklyn are to be added. There is little doubt as to whether Kansas City or Sioux City is to be admitted. Outside of this the circuit has been about fixed up.

Attacking a Law.

DENVER, Oct. 16.—Hon. Caldwell Yeaman, H. B. Riley and C. Parsons to day filed a document in the supreme court which, if sustained by the court, will be by means of making vacant the office of every police magistrate in the state. The last legislature passed a law giving various towns the right to operate their police courts under special rules, and at the present time there are four classes of police magistrates in the state, all operating under different rules and regulations. Mr. Yeaman and Riley declare that such a law is unconstitutional and that the legislature has no right to make special laws for any one town and that all courts within the state must operate under the same law and the same rules. This throws at once into the constitutionality of the Sunday closing law as enforced by the city government through a police magistrate and closes that institution only to be taken by the state.

If this point is sustained by the court, all policemen will be thrown adrift and all sales and Sunday closing cease. It is understood here that this attack upon the law is in the interest of the whole crop of Dennis.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—A San Antonio special to The Times-Democrat says: Hon. Henry Terrell, United States attorney for this district, returned here today from a tour of inspection along the Upper Rio Grande border. He states that there is a very heavy business in smuggling horses and cattle from Mexico into the United States now being done all along that part of the border. Since the passage of the McKinley bill, which places a duty of $10 per head on horses and $1.70 per head on cattle, the smugglers have found the business more profitable than ever before. It is a hard matter to get all the officers doing to the fact that the river is at such a low stage during the greater part of the year and the animals are driven to its banks and allowed to unobtrusively stray across. When they reach this side they are again rounded up and sold at a big profit.

O'Brien's Defiance.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—William O'Brien today issued a manifesto in reply to the recent Parnellite defiances which have been circulated over the country by the leaders of the party. He writes: "I have waited since the fatal hoping that the late Mr. Parnell's leading supporters knowing my relations with Mr. Parnell at Boulogne would have the manliness to dissociate themselves from the diabolical charges circulated broadcast by their special organ that Mr. Dillon and myself hounded their leader to death."

He denies all the charges made against him and declares that he never wished any harm to Parnell or attempted to "hound him to death." He concludes by publishing a letter received from Mr. Parnell on the day the Boulogne negotiations broke off to show that he and Parnell parted as honorable opponents.

There's No Place Like Home.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 16.—J. Nejsach, who lives in this city, had a very unpleasant experience yesterday. His wife has been acting strangely of late, one of her performances being an attempt to drown herself and two children in the Sioux river. Yesterday morning she suddenly seized a large cleaving knife and sprung at her husband. He dodged behind a chair and kept the woman at bay. The husband was starting for the door to call for help, when the women took up a year old baby, and placed the knife upon its throat, with the threat that if any Nejsach left she would murder the child. Help finally came and the women was taken in custody. She is adjudged insane today and will leave this afternoon for the Yankton asylum.

Commercial Rumors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Startling rumors were afloat today in Wall street concerning the affairs of the banking house of Kennedy, Hopkins & Co. One of the rumors was to the effect that matters were so serious that the firm would probably close its doors tomorrow or Monday. At the office of the firm these reports were denied.

However this may be, it is certain that the $43,000 belonging to Thomas J. Brady, a customer of the firm, which was obtained from them by their late employee, T. H. Stout, by means of forged checks and other fraudulent practices, has not been returned yet in full, and unless the firm makes such settlement by tomorrow or Monday it is understood that attachments and others of a kind will be asked for.

The Pope's Objection.

ROME, Oct. 16.—The pope in a note to the powers, says that the recent Pantheon disorders were of extreme importance and indicate that it is impossible for both the Italian government and the papacy to remain in Rome. These manifestations, he says, prove the Italian government's intention to secure the pope in the Vatican and not allow him free communication with the Catholic world. He also calls attention to the demands of the advanced groups to abolish the law of guarantees.

Silver Purchases.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The treasury department today purchased 300,000 ounces of silver at prices ranging from 76.10 to 76.10 cents per ounce. The offers were 810,000 ounces. [illegible] offers to sell silver at the rate of 76 cents per ounce will be accepted until Nov. 2.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Commercial Summary.

THE VOLUME OF TRADE LARGE.

Better in the West than the East—No Signs of the Expected Shortage in the Cotton Crop—Failures of the Past Week.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade will say:

Business throughout the west and south is improving. At Cincinnati there is less satisfaction, and the expected results from the harvesting of large crops are more slowly realized. Yet the volume of all trade, as shown by movements through clearing houses outside New York is as large as it ever had been, and for October may even surpass the unprecedented record of last year.

The output of furnaces in blast Oct. 1 was 181,615 tons weekly, against 170,846 Sept. 1, and 179,253 a year ago. The largest output of iron ever reported was 183,846 Dec. 1, 1890. Yet this enormous production is marvellously absorbed, for the stock of coke is on the whole larger than a month ago and those of anthracite and charcoal are a little smaller.

The wool manufacture is short of orders in the men's wear department, though Chicago clothiers are buying freely, but on the whole clothiers have not taken nearly their usual supply of goods, and many of the mills are closing. The demand for dress goods is strong, and many superior qualities are offered, while knit goods are dull as well as carpets. The cotton manufacture is active without change in prices. The demand for copper is large, but a rumor of resumption by the Anaconda put down the price of lake to 12.15, and tin is weak at 20.10, with lead at 4.45. The market for anthracite coal is better, but circular prices are not realized.

The reports from other cities are almost uniformly encouraging. At Boston the boot and shoe leather trades are quiet and domestic hides are dull. The demand for wool is fair at firm prices. At Philadelphia more inquiry is seen for manufactured iron, pipe is active and structural iron in brisk demand, trade in tools and shoes satisfactory, and the movement of wool is small and woolen goods are dull. At Pittsburg the demand for manufactured iron, and especially for structural forms is improving, but the coal strike continues.

At Cleveland trade exceeds last year's considerably, and is brisk at Cincinnati, especially in dry goods. At Chicago the clothing and dry goods trades are active and the movement of farm products are large, though receipts of cattle fell below last year's.

At Detroit manufacturing is active and factories running full time. At Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha and Kansas City, business is very active, especially in lumber at Minneapolis, with sales in prospect while the output of flour is 135,000 barrels per week, against 151,000 last year. At St. Louis trade is unusually strong, at Louisville, Nashville and New Orleans business is active, at Montgomery, Charleston and Savannah receipts of cotton are very large and business is growing, and at Jacksonville the large receipts of oranges are giving a promising impetus to trade.

Speculation has not been very heavy, though corn and oats are advanced in the face of ample crops, and wheat is a trifle higher. Cotton is a quarter lower, with receipts of 121,000 bales, receipts being so heavy that short crop theories are disregarded. While southern prices are relatively too high for Liverpool, pork and produce are lower; coffee unchanged, and oil half a cent lower. Foreign trade, though smaller than a year ago, when the movement was extraordinary, is nevertheless larger than in previous years, and the heavy exports of bonds indicate further remittances of gold from Europe.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days number for the United States 207, and for Canada 30; or, a total of 237 failures, as compared with 220 last week, and 200 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 222, representing 189 failures in the United States and 29 in the Dominion of Canada.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—There was a good buying by London houses on the opening of the stock exchange here this morning, and the prices were generally fractionally higher, while Reading opened at an advance of ½ per cent. During the morning there was a moderate buying and prices further advanced by midday. New York Central was a feature of late morning dealings. The principal declines of the morning were in Reading, L. & N., Atchison, Northern Pacific preferred, Union Pacific, St. Paul, Rock Island, Erie and Wisconsin Central. At 12 o'clock prices for the general market were ½ to ¾ per cent. higher than the close of last night.

There was comparatively little trading on the stock exchange during the afternoon, but the market continued strong to the close for a majority of the list. In the last few minutes of business there was a heavy trading in Burlington and Quincy. Missouri Pacific was also quite heavily bought and closed with an advance of 1 per cent. The dealings in that stock it was said, were chiefly by Jay Gould brokers. London houses were credited with purchases of stock to the extent of 20,000 shares. The advance in the general market, as compared with last night's figures ranged from ½ to 2½ per cent., the latter in New York Central. Sales 207,121 shares.

A Tale of the Sea.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 16.—Captain J. I. Bowling and the crew of sixteen men belonging to the brig Alice of Baltimore, arrived in St. John's river late last night on the schooner Julia A. Ward of Calais, Me. The Alice was abandoned last Wednesday, about forty miles south of Lookout light. Captain Bowling tells the following story: "We left Rio Janeiro August 5, with a cargo of coffee for Baltimore. We had beautiful weather until Oct. 1, when we ran into a hurricane. The vessel was very strained by heavy seas, lay and and water, and after being buffeted about for a few hours it was found that she had sprung a leak. The pumps were in constant use from that day until Oct. 12, when they became choked and had to be abandoned. All this time the wind was in the midst of a succession of gales and despite the hard work of the crew, the water gained perceptibly. When the pumps became disabled the crew went to work bailing the water out of the forehatch. Here they worked until Tuesday morning, when they became completely fagged out and dropped exhausted on the deck, one after another. Early Wednesday morning it was seen that the ship would not keep afloat much longer and it was decided to abandon her."

The boat was then launched into which the [illegible] Half an hour later the Alice went down. Captain Bowling and his men were picked up by the Ward [illegible] Rio Janeiro. The crew of the Alice lost everything but the wind was not. The captain and crew saved their personal effects. All show signs of their fearful privations, but are in a very cheerful mood over their timely rescue. They leave for Baltimore by rail tomorrow.

Another Reservation Opened.

DENVER, Oct. 16.—The reporter of the United Press who accompanied the commission appointed by Secretary Noble to negotiate with the Shoshone and Arapahoe Indians of Wyoming for a cession of a portion of the Wind river reservation, telegraphs that the commission has been entirely successful and has effected an agreement with the Indians under which the latter cede to the United States more than half of their reservation. The ceded land consists of about 1,100,000 acres. For the lands ceded the Indians receive $600,000 or about 55 cents per acre. Of this amount all but $[illegible] cash payment of $60,000 will be put into funds for the benefit of the Indians and the annual interest expended in the purchase and maintenance of a cattle herd in giving them irrigation ditches, schools and other things necessary to make the Indians self-supporting. The land ceded is, with the exception of about 100,000 acres, well watered and the bottom lands are rich. Coal and oil are found on the ceded lands and there are indications of the presence of more valuable mineral. The country is 150 miles from railroad communications and for its development needs a railroad through it in the direction of Yellowstone park and the northwest.

Lands to a Railroad.

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 16.—It is said the decision of Judge Caldwell in the Northern Pacific land case Wednesday is worth from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to the railroad, although in the main issue as to the taxation of lands the decision is against the company. The decision gives them a clear title to all the lands within their grant not known to certain minerals at the time of the filing of the map of the definite location of the road. The interior department has hitherto refused to patent these lands until the railroad should produce proof that the lands did not contain mineral. Many thousand acres of land in Montana, Idaho and Washington upon which gold, silver and copper, etc., have been discovered since the filing of the map of the location and which the interior department has held were not included in the grant are by Judge Caldwell's decision declared to be the property of the railroad. "Not only the land, but mineral as well." The value of railroad taxes involved in Judge Caldwell's decision for twelve counties interested will be about $100,000.

Heaps of Ore at Rico.

DENVER, Oct. 16.—The Times tonight says: A better feeling prevails in the Rio Grande general things over the increase of earnings that has been noticed before during the year. The increase is said to be due to the completion of the Rio Grande Southern to Rico. The trains have moved within the past eight or ten days immense quantities of ore, some of which has been mined and piled up at the mines for two years or longer. The first class ore has been hauled out of the camp in wagons to the connecting joints on the railway, but tons and tons of second and third class ore have been dumped to one side, separately, awaiting cheaper transportation. It is reported that there is enough ore in the dumps of the Enterprise, Montezuma group and one or two other properties to keep the Southern in business for a year, without additional shipping.

Additional rolling stock is now being sent over to facilitate the work of moving the great reserve at Rico, and the Rio Grande railroad will be greatly benefited from this time on.

In this connection petitions and letters are being sent to the new president for a reduction in freight rates. Whether Mr. Jeffery will do anything at all is not known, though it is thought that no action will be taken at present in any of the branches of the system.

Out of Jail or Out of His Head.

OMAHA, Oct. 16.—What is considered the most important chapter of the series which began with the lynching of Smith, the negro, was taken in Beatrice today. Officers Drummy and Moats of the Omaha force went down to that town today and when they returned to this city brought with them John W. Haight, a black-smith who resided there. He was placed in the city jail and the charge of murder in the first degree placed against him. Haight is believed to be the man who placed the tobacco about Smith's neck and thus the rope over the wire to which he was swung. The county attorney refuses to say whether he will call the attention of any more participants, but it is believed that no more will be taken up until the preliminary examination is held. The German citizens are making desperate efforts to secure the release of Neustadter, the only lynicher yet in jail. Nor better is believed to be going insane because of the belief that he is being made a scapegoat of. He is a stranger and not particularly bright and his case if tried will cause him to lose his mind unless soon relieved.

A Call for a Library.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The secretary of agriculture is being greatly annoyed by some person in Washington, who is sending postal cards to new members of congress, offering for sale 800 copies of the agricultural report and 216 copies of the special report on diseases of the horse. The number advertised of each of these reports is exactly the allotment of a member of the fifty-first congress and the conclusion is irresistible that some member of that body is converting into money, documents which congress voted for the use and benefit of his constituents.

Secretary Rusk, when asked about this matter today, gave it as his opinion that the constituency of a member who would thus dispose of government publications should be made aware of the fact that they might elect a member who would faithfully carry out the intent of the law governing these publications. He says, however, that there is probably no way in which the party could be detected and exposed.

[illegible]

BOSTON, Oct. 16. Superintendent-of-census Porter delivered an address on the "Organization, Administration and Results of the Eleventh Census" before the American Statistical association to-night. In the course of his remarks he said: Up to the present time the work of the census bureau has been repeatedly attacked, but not criticized. These attacks have generally come from newspapers in communities where the population did not come up to expectation, where the results were asked for and refused on good grounds, or where the results have forced upon the people in spite of protest. He closed with a plea for a permanent census bureau, for the establishment of which he was preparing a bill.

International Cricket.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Fifteen hundred persons assembled at the cricket grounds at Parkside today to witness the international cricket match between Lord Hawke's eleven and an eleven of the Chicago Cricket club. In their first innings the visitors made 186 runs. The batting of Brown, Woods, Hewett and Rickette was much admired. The bowling of Woods and Hornsby proved too much for the Kent team and they were retired for thirty-five runs, Dr. Ogden making nine, the top score of his team.

Ft. Rosecrans Celebration.

FT. ROSECRANS, Colo., Oct. 16.—The bodies of 300 soldiers who fell in the battle of Ft. Rosecrans, including the body of General Hunter were interred with impressive ceremonies in the national cemetery at this place by the government for the purpose. Over 50,000 people are on the grounds today. John George Hoss of [illegible]

Entertainment at the Y. M. C. A.

A very successful entertainment was given in the reception room of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the small members of the association. The room was crowded with the juvenile representatives of the junior class and a few visitors at about 4:30 o'clock, and the programme which followed was one well worth hearing. Dr. Hale delivered a very sensible address, dwelling at length on the great necessity of careful and regular physical exercise, and speaking in a way very complimentary to his young hearers. The programme was still further enlivened by a recitation by Professor Chapman of Cobb's delicious "A Novel Cure for Anger," and three selections by Miss Gracie Hopkins, "How We Found the Mine," "The Little Hatchet Story," and the "Dentist School." Mr. E. F. Miller, the Chicago evangelist who sang baritone solos has won much admiration here, and for the third of his solos, "On Granny's Old Arm Chair," the music was furnished by Professor Rawley with two cornet solos.

The Tejon Street Intersection.

The city council have been busily wrestling with other in the few days regarding the Tejon street underpassing and have come to the conclusion that the best thing to do is to finish it up and get it out of the public mind as soon as possible. Several ways of securing the funds have been discussed, but the one which has found most favor and which will probably be adopted at the next council meeting Monday night, is to use the surplus in the sprinkling fund. There is now some $2,000 left to do the sprinkling until March, which is more than is really necessary. By putting the taxes that draw the sprinkler and the men that drive them, as soon as another rain storm stops the sprinkling that work with wagons the gravel can in a short time be hauled out of the way so as to leave a narrow, but sufficient passage. The city is constantly using gravel on the down town streets and it can from time to time be hauled from the underpass instead of constantly widening it until it reaches the required breadth. It is also probable that parties living on the line of the road will contribute work with teams. At least it is generally supposed that the work will be completed as speedily as possible.

Football.

At a meeting of the Colorado Football association, held at the Denver Athletic club parlors the past week, the following schedule of games was arranged for the season: Oct. 24, Golden at Boulder; Oct. 31, Golden at Colorado Springs, Boulder at Denver; Nov. 3, Denver at Boulder, Colorado Springs at Golden; Nov. 14, Colorado Springs at Boulder, Denver at Golden; Nov. 26, Thanksgiving Day, Golden at Denver, Boulder at Colorado Springs; Dec. 25, Colorado Springs at Denver; Jan. 1, Denver at Colorado Springs.

Mr. William S. Robertson and Miss Lydia Violet Jewett were married at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Jewett, the bride's parents, at Keokuk, Iowa, on October 6. Mr. Robertson was a former resident of this city and will be remembered as having conducted the tea store on South Tejon street last winter. His friends here offer congratulations.

[illegible] Resumed.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Twice during the forty-eight hours the fierce attack abated in fury only to be renewed with increased force. This morning's dispatch announces that the attack is blowing with even greater severity than before in the Irish sea. Many of the steamers [illegible] battered to pieces which during the past two days succeeded in making the harbor of Queenstown, [illegible] to resume their voyage [illegible] to be labouring so heavily [illegible] of the storm and foundering and dragging each other and there a number of them, are in danger of going ashore.

Bank President Drowned.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 16.—Word was received here at midnight that Fred E. Scrymser, president, and M. Dawson, cashier of the Wyoming National bank at Lorimer City, were drowned in Hutton's lake this evening. The men were members of a hunting party, and had gone upon the lake in a small boat to shoot ducks. A sudden turn in the wind upset the boat and both were drowned before assistance could reach them.

Murder in the First Degree.

WALSENBURG, Colo., Oct. 16.—Murder in the first degree was the verdict of the jury this evening in the case of Charles Smith, charged with killing Taylor Salmon last spring. Sentence will not be pronounced until after the defense have signified whether or not they will ask for a new trial.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

Mrs. Allen G. Thurman's condition is very critical and death is momentarily expected. She has lain in a stupor for three days.

The census office has issued advance copies of a bulletin which will be issued shortly on traffic on the rivers of the Mississippi valley.

At Quincy, Ills., J. B. Stevenson, aged 38, professor of astronomy in the high school, killed himself by shooting in the head. No cause is assigned.

At Madison, Ga., Aleck Morris was hanged in private in the county jail at 12 noon today. He had professed religion and blamed his wife for having led him into crime.

At Sun Cook, N. H., Irving A. Evans, a prominent broker and banker in Boston and New York killed himself. Failing health and unfortunate investments were the cause.

At Bradford, Pa., nearly 100 delegates to the Women's Christian Temperance Union state convention were poisoned by something they ate or drank at a dinner in Armory hall, tendered the delegates by the McKean organization.

On account of the strict enforcement of anti-Chinese regulations elsewhere the celestials are beginning to swarm over the Minnesota and North Dakota border, guarded by only six custom officers. Eighty Chinamen have just started from Kilarney, Manitoba.

At Dubuque, Ia., Mrs. Miller and Mrs. and Mrs. Peddlety of Benton, Wis., were driving over the high bridge when their horse took fright at an engine, turned about and threw the occupants of the buggy out. Mrs. Peddlety had her skull fractured and will die. Mrs. Miller was badly hurt but will recover.

At Galesburg, Ills., the convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen completed the election of officers as follows: Grand master, S. E. Wilkinson; first vice grand master, H. H. Morrisey; grand secretary and treasurer, W. A. Sheehan; all of Galesburg, Ills.

Francis E. Church, aged 55, a lay preacher and a well known citizen of Germantown, ended his life by cutting his throat with a razor, at his residence on Boyer street. Family physicians of the family it was learned that Church had been suffering from severe pains in the head for some time past and it is thought in a fit of temporary insanity he did the rash act.

A sensation has been caused by the publication of a letter in the Samarcand Gazette, St. Petersburg, to the effect that the Khan Khodjeder of Khokand (being independent England to menace Russian authority in the province of Ferghana, Russia has found it necessary, as a measure of protection to annex the adjacent khanate. It is known that England will protest against the annexation.

The treasury department, in response to numerous requests from various sections of the country, has issued a pamphlet containing a brief history of the coinage legislation in the United States. It contains an epitome of coinage legislation since the passage of April 2, 1792, of a bill providing the United States mint, up to and including the silver bullion act of July 14, 1890.

Why He Didn't Go Home.

Many people live as if making a hero of a man he should be grateful. But sometimes he is very much annoyed. On a steamer which left New York was a young fellow who awakened one morning to find himself much respected as a sailor. The steamer took it into her head to roll one day and she rolled beautifully and unexpectedly. She rolled when there was a wind and she rolled when there was a wind and she rolled when any self-respecting ship wouldn't have shown that she was on the water. It made no difference what the weather was—she rolled just the same.

In less than six hours after the roll began 90 percent of the passengers were sick. The tables at meal time looked as if a banquet hall had been hastily deserted. There was a deep, dark gloom all over the ship. A great many people tried to keep on the upper deck, where the air was fresh and the wind a little enlivening, but the swing of the ship was so marked upward, falling on the circumference of the circle of motion, that most people who crawled up looked around in a dazed way, feebly groaned "sick" and crept down to the lower decks.

There was one young man, however, who did not seem to mind the roll in the slightest. He had arranged himself comfortably in one of the ship's boats and lay there in an easy position all day. He was there, covered with a greatcoat, when the last passenger were himself had gone to bed.

The next morning the steamer was in a better mood and gave up the rolling habit.

THREE NOTABLE WOMEN

EACH IN HER WAY LIVES A VERY BUSY LIFE.

A Female Train Dispatcher Who Has Made No Blunders—A Career Devoted to Good Works—How a Public Man Has Been Aided by His Wife.

A score of years ago there were certain arbitrary limitations to female activity. But now all that is changed and this has become what is generally called "the woman's age." Because they were "given a chance" bright American girls demonstrated their ability as telegraph operators, and for the same reason one of the fair electricians now holds a position as train dispatcher—the only woman, by the way, ever placed in that important and responsible station.

Miss Lizzie E. D. Thayer learned her Morse alphabet and the mysteries of "pounding brass" at the little New England village of Groton thirteen years ago. She grew expert as a sender of messages, had charge of various minor offices and finally was promoted to the place of assistant to the train dispatcher of the New London Northern railroad at New London, Conn. Her work was purely subordinate in its nature, but she was anxious to learn and wasn't afraid to ask questions, so in time she became almost as thoroughly informed as her chief. He resigned one day some three years ago, and while the officials looked around for a successor they put Miss Thayer in charge. Finding no one to suit, after some months' probation they formally installed the girl, and she has been the train dispatcher ever since. The line is a single track one, and has a large traffic, both freight and passenger. Every train has to move according to direct orders sent out by Miss Thayer, and the slightest mistake might cause an appalling disaster. Yet in her two years of management not an accident has occurred for which she is responsible. She has nerves of steel, has proved cool in emergencies and keeps the wires hot with orders that are so the brain of the line as a metronome to a watch.

MISS JEANNETTE COCKRAN

Miss Jeannette Cockran's mission is of a different order. She is the beautiful twenty-year-old daughter of Colonel Robert Cockran, of Boston, and the wealth and standing of her family gave her admission to the best social circles. But fashionable life had no charms for her, and by her recent entry into the Order of the Sisters of Mercy she has devoted the remainder of her existence to the relief of the sick and suffering.

Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell's energy and ability find outlet in a fascinating but difficult channel of activity. She is the wife of a public man, James E. Campbell, present governor of Ohio, who is now seeking reelection, and a daughter of Job E. Owens, of Hamilton, O., one of the wealthiest politicians and business men of his day. Miss Owens was educated at Vassar, and became Mrs. Campbell in 1868. Her husband at that time was a struggling young lawyer, who had served in the navy during the war, and who had taken up a profession at the close of the contest. She aided him in achieving his ambitions as General Logan was aided by his wife. He served three terms in congress, after holding local offices, and then was elevated to the gubernatorial chair.

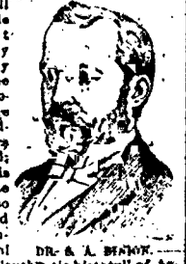
At Washington she shone in society circles, and at Columbus she has displayed great tact as a hostess and entertainer. Major McKinley accepted her hospitality after he had been nominated as her husband's opponent, and Mrs. Foraker was her guest at luncheon, although a few days before Mr. Foraker had denounced the Campbell administration as "the most damnable in the history of Ohio." There are several children and the home life of the family is said to be almost ideal in character.

SOME GOOD EGYPTIAN STORIES

Brought to Light by the Research of an American Physician.

Egypt was for ages the land of mystery. It is to the open door which gives us a good view of the life of a people who were "the ancients" to Herodotus and others whom we call ancients. People who have not made it a study have scarcely any conception of the extraordinary progress made since for any to the oldest hieroglyphics was discovered; but the record is now so complete and the facts so clearly proved that even the conservative school begins the "authentic history" of Assyria with the reign of Sargon 3,800 years before Christ.



DR. S. A. BIRCH

Even at that time there had been wars between Assyria and Egypt which were spoken of as ancient. All only are the royal records cited to a period 1,300 years before Sargon, but numbers of private citizens wrote out circumstantial accounts of their lives, which were laid in their graves and are now read by scholars. Among others, Dr. S. A. Birch, of New York, has given much time to a study of these personal sketches, and he has recently compiled the most interesting of them in a work of rare interest. Some of them are very amusing, especially that of the Prince Ramesis. The original record looks to the uneducated like a set of goose tracks in yellow mud, but the English of it tells this story.

When very young he fell in love and was for awhile unhappy, but did not lose his appetite. On the contrary he relieved his mind by going to banquets where he met several jolly fellows. After his good spirits were restored his beard grew and he began to study the duties of a man. He learned that his corpse would have to lie in a mummy state 4,000 years before the reviving gods would take him before Osiris. The mummy would need food during these 4,000 years, and so surviving friends painted his breakfast, dinner and supper on the walls of the tomb, enabling him to live cheaply during the interval by simply looking at them.

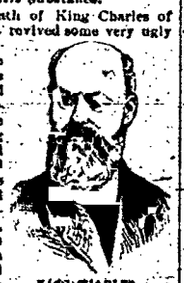
The "Ritual of the Dead" is a minute account of the examination before Osiris. One god examined the stomach, another the lungs, a third the heart and so on, and if all reported that these organs had not been abused the subject was then put through a catechism as to the way he treated his parents, his servants, his wife, his children and even his mother-in-law. There was a devil or demon to act as prosecutor, and sometimes a whole board of them to get up evidence and frame indictments.

One very interesting fact shown in these personal histories is that frauds were common in embalming the dead, from which it would seem that many priests and undertakers did not have as strong a faith in the judgment as the common people did. For instance, it would cost about $1,000 to properly embalm a crocodile (a sacred animal), and so these ancient frauds would only embalm the head, and for the rest of the body make an ingenious imitation out of wood, reeds, corn husks, etc. Another fact of interest is that the people were monogamists and the social position of women was much higher than in the Egypt of today. On the whole the record proves the Egyptians of 4000 or 5000 B. C. to have been a splendid set of fellows and makes one sorry that they died.

A CREDULOUS OLD MAN.

How the Late King of Wurtemberg Squandered His Substance.

The recent death of King Charles of Wurtemberg has revived some very ugly scandals, involving two or three Americans. These men had obtained such an extraordinary influence over the old king that he ennobled them, squandered his revenue as they directed, and finally lived entirely with them, secluded in his palace. Then Queen Olga and the court officials interfered, the parasites were driven away, and for the rest of his life the king was virtually a prisoner in the royal apartments.



KING CHARLES

Karl Friedrich Alexander was born March 6, 1823, married Olga, Nicholajewna, daughter of Czar Nicholas of Russia, July 13, 1846, and succeeded his father as king June 25, 1864. He co-operated with Prussia in organizing the new Germany and was in general a liberal ruler. He formed a strong attachment to Richard M. Jackson, of Ohio, vice-consul at Stuttgart, made him his leader, created him a baron and showered princely gifts on him.

Mr. Jackson used his privileges with moderation, but the Rev. Charles B. Woodcock, of New York, and Mr. Donald Hendry, of St. John, N. B., were introduced into the palace, and, according to the Wurtemberger, they swindled the old monarch shamefully. One of their methods was by spiritual manifestations in which the king was persuaded that he could talk with his princely ancestors. The king's purse was exhausted in enriching these men, and the people threatened them so loudly that they deserted in a hurry.

In Rio Janeiro.

According to the recent census the city of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, has a population of 540,000, of whom 73% can read and write. The government of Brazil has offered to the local representative of ex-Emperor Don Pedro twenty-nine tin boxes and two trunks containing manuscripts and documents of a private character which were left in the government offices. It is stated that the cocoa (chocolate) harvest along the Amazon river is greater this year than for any year previous except in 1893.

Cuba's Sugar Shipments.

Recent Havana advices show that of this year's crop of sugar 2,105,759 bags had been shipped from Cuba to the United States up the 31st of August ult., against 981,063 bags for the same period in 1895. Of the total, 1,100,000 bags went to New York, and 900,883 bags to other ports of the United States. The total shipped to Europe was 165,700 bags, against 261,488 shipped during the corresponding period last year.

There are only forty members of the house of commons who are the sons of peers, and are thus liable at any moment to be transferred to the house of lords.

Noted as a Collector.

Charles F. Gunther, of Chicago, is known in all the cities of the world as an enthusiastic collector of antiquities and curios. He is such a liberal buyer that he now receives early notice of any important discovery or sale, and if his life is spared but a few years he will have in Chicago an historical museum that will rank among the greatest in the world. Among his most valued treasures are originals of documents issued by Washington, Lincoln and other rulers, an original Gutenberg Bible, the manuscripts of Martin Luther, copies of the first English Bibles, the first Indian bibles, the original treaties with France and many other political and religious works. He also has one original autographic production of Shakespeare, one of the only two Tyndall Bibles of 1526, the only portrait of Washington's sister Betty, Washington's journal while at Yorktown and the treaty of surrender signed by Cornwallis.

C. F. GUNTHER

He has also Assyrian clay tablets of 3000 B. C., Egyptian and Hebrew manuscripts of 900 to 300 B. C., illuminated parchment Bibles of the Middle Ages, the first Bibles, newspapers, sheet music, maps and charters printed in America and a vast assortment of oriental and other curious manuscripts. He has models and drawings of almost every kind of dwelling, temple, bridge, etc., in use for centuries. His ambition is to found a great American museum of that nature.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Sol Smith Russell.

The popular comedian, Sol Smith Russell, who will appear at the opera house this evening, has achieved a triumph this season in his new play, "Peaceful Valley," that has never been excelled by any comedian in America. This successful new play is by Edward E. Rudder, and is founded on the actor's personal observations of that class of typical Americans from which Lincoln, Webster, Greeley, Garfield, and others have sprung. It breathes the wholesome, invigorating air of the old New England mountain farm. Justice is the high ideal of its central character, and the lesson is enforced through the medium of a well educated country boy, unsophisticated in city ways, green in manner, but with a character incapable of doing anything wrong—Hosea Howe by name. At the opening of the play Hosea Howe is seen as a waiter at the Mountain Hotel, a summer resort in New England, earning enough money to pay his way through college. He meets a city girl, and from the admiration of each for the other a good deal of humor is extracted. The scene is in the Peaceful Valley mountains, and the character of Hosea Howe is brought into relief by the surroundings of city bred people, and of flashy young men of rather loose morals. His sister is induced to run away to New York city with a man of no character who has fascinated her. They are married by Jonathan Ford, justice of the peace. To prove this marriage and to find the lost sister supply the play with dramatic interest. The second act is at Hosea Howe's farm on the mountain. Here are seen homely pictures of country life, Hosea's courtship, his unceasing desire to go to the city, and other quaint situations, save up the humor and the interest of the play. In the concluding act Hosea is in New York. His experience there, his search for his sister, whom he finds, the betrayal of the scoundrel, and the sudden appearance of Jonathan Ford to prove the marriage, all lead to a happy denouement, in which the courtship of the city-bred girl by the awkward but loyal Hosea culminates successfully.

What They Praise.

Some little in Boston a lady whose faith is firmly placed in the blind cure, and who is now awaiting to get a child safely through the ills and perils of childhood by its use, if Little Margaret tumbles on her face or if she has the stomach ache she is told that there is nothing the matter with her and that the pain is imaginary.

She is flatly disputed whenever she says that she is ill and insisted that there is no such thing as illness in the family, and it is not to be wondered at that the child finds this rather cold comfort when she is real feeling well.

Margaret's favorite playmate is little Elsie, but one day Elsie asked to her mother with a sigh:

"I don't have much fun playing with Margaret, mamma."

"Indeed, Elsie," her mother replied. "Why not?"

"Because, mamma, she never wants to play at anything but being sick. She says her mother will never let her be sick at home and so she wants to play it all the time when she is here."—Youth's Companion.

Carry It Fast.

James R. Carey, the world's champion sprinter, is unfortunate in only every time he develops a record breaking speed. On Sept. 19, at New York city, Carey ran 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds, equaling the world's record, held by John Owen, Jr., of Detroit, but only two timekeepers, not three as required, registered the performance. Once or twice before similar things have happened, much to the "Princeton Demon's" disgust, as each time he was unable to claim a record.

BEAR HUNTING IN THE ROCKIES

It Is Rather Slow Work Now and the Animals Are Very Cautious.

Bear hunting, as a rule, I do not think would appeal to most sportsmen. It is rather slow work, and one is often very inadequately rewarded for the amount of time and trouble spent in hunting up game. There is hardly a portion of the mountains where there are not evidences of bear, but I do not believe that in any locality they are especially abundant. They have been hunted and trapped so long that the survivors are extremely cautious. In any case there is no animal gifted with a greater amount of intelligence, and, in this region, the hunter's chief virtue, patience to wait and stay in one spot, is sure to be rewarded sooner or later with a good shot.

Let me say now that the danger and ferocity of the bear is, I think, very much overstated, yet there is just enough element of danger to make the pursuit of this animal exciting. Naturalists do not now apparently recognize more than two varieties of bear in the Rocky mountains. That is, they place the cinnamon, silver tip and grizzly, as grizzly bear. The other variety, of course, is the black bear. I am by no means sure that the grizzly bear will not be further subdivided after careful comparison of collections of skulls.

Much has been said and written about the size and weight of the grizzly bear, and in most instances this has been mere guess work. Lewis and Clark made frequent mention of this animal and yet their estimate of the weight falls far below that of other writers. Only a few instances have come to my knowledge where the weight has been ascertained absolutely.

A good sized grizzly killed to Yellowstone park by Wilson, the government scout, weighed 600 pounds. Colonel Pickett, who has a neighboring ranch to mine, and who has killed more bear than any man I know of, weighed his largest, which, if I remember rightly, weighed 800 pounds.—Archibald Rogers in Scribner's.

Lowell as a Poet.

As a poet, whatever comparisons may be made with his predecessors or contemporaries, at home or abroad, whatever just criticisms may be recorded, we believe it will be found at the end that a large part of Lowell's verse has passed into literature, there to remain. The originality, vitality, intensity and beauty of the best of it are self evident. Although a true, spontaneous poet, his life had other strong interests and engrossing occupations, and the volume of his verse does not equal that of others whose careers have extended beside his own; his impression as a poet upon his time has not equaled that of others.

It may, indeed, be said that if as strongly poetic in nature as they, he would have been dominated as exclusively as were they by the poetic mood. However this may be, the quality of his genius, as shown in his best work, was, we believe, quite as fine as that of any poet writing English in his day. No one can read his last volume of verse without being impressed anew by the vigor, variety and spontaneous character of Lowell's poetic gift. Even his literary faults are of such a nature as to testify to the keenness of his thought and the abundance of his intellectual equipment.—Century.

How to Make Money.

A man who is wise, careful and conservative, energetic, persevering and tireless need have no fear of his future. But there is one other thing. He must have a steady head, one that can weather the rough sea of reverses from which no life is altogether free, and one that will not become too big when success attends his efforts. Keep out of the way of speculators. Take your money, whether it be much or little, to one whose reputation will insure you good counsel. Invest your money where the principal is safe and you will get along. But don't forget the cents. It is from little scores that great sums grow. See that you begin aright early in life. Save your money with regularity. By so doing, you will more than save your money; you will make money.—Henry Clews in Ladies' Home Journal.

A FEW REASONS

Why the "WABASH" is the most desirable route for all points West.

First—You can purchase through tickets for all points east at any coupon ticket office in the east over this popular line. Your choice of routes to the Mississippi River.

Second—You can go by the way of Omaha or Kansas City at your pleasure.

Third—From any of the points mentioned you have your choice of "FIVE" different routes as follows:

Via the Hannibal Air Line, which is the shortest line to the East.

Via St. Louis, where direct connections are made with all Eastern and Southern lines.

Via Chicago, the World's Fair City.

Via Toledo, Ohio's [illegible] City, connecting at that place with the Lake Shore fast train to the East.

Via Detroit, Michigan's most [illegible] beautiful city [illegible].

All of the above [illegible] are direct by the "WABASH" and direct by no other [illegible] running from the West.

Ask for your tickets by the way of this line, and accept of them by no other.

We run the finest trains on earth, a bold assertion but a cold fact. Write us for rates, maps, etc.

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1891.

"Now is the best day that you can find."

Mr. E. C. Gard, Palmer Lake's rustling newspaper man, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Jannette W. Crawford will lecture at Durkee hall Sunday, Oct. 18, at 8 o'clock. Subject: "Immortality."

Mr. L. C. Stuart, representing the Buena Vista Record, was a pleasant caller at the Gazette office last evening.

Bersey & Pearson, of the Midland cigar store, are now the regular authorized agents for the Denver News in this city.

Mr. Ed J. Price, formerly postmaster of this city, but now a resident of California, is a visitor in the city and greeting old friends.

The fire bell for the west side bell tower arrived over the Santa Fe last evening and will probably be placed today. The bell weighs 1000 pounds.

Lutheran church services on Huerfano street to-morrow: Rev. Dr. Howbert will preach at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Y. P. C. E. society at 6:30 p. m. Sabbath school at 10 a. m.

The three coaches for "Colorado on Wheels" exhibit are now on the Santa Fe track. The exhibit starts next Tuesday evening, and the loading of the cars commenced yesterday.

The two committees appointed on uniform and free text books and the school libraries will meet this evening to prepare a report on the two subjects for the coming county convention.

There was a rumor of a runaway on the Cheyenne canon road yesterday afternoon, caused by a bear coming out of the woods and frightening a horse. The rumor could not be verified by Gazette reporters.

Mr. M. L. Dorr is the first man to use the Tejon street undercrossing. For an experiment and to amuse himself Mr. Dorr managed to get his buggy through yesterday. It was a light vehicle and had to be lifted bodily over the hill.

To-morrow morning, at the Second Congregational church, the pastor, Rev. M. D. Gwinn, will give an account of the recent annual meeting of the State Association of Congregational churches at Cheyenne. Evening subject: "Charity."

At the First Congregational church Sunday services will be held at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. In the morning Rev. R. R. Bell, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will preach in the pastor's place. In the evening Rev. J. B. Gregg will preach in the morning.

The county clerk's office will be open until 9 o'clock this evening to receive all persons who have notified him that they will be ready to do so. The law requires that the registration shall close ten days before the election, which is to-day in this county.

The young ladies of the Democratic party have begun to wind up the campaign. Balls were held at Fountain and Colorado City last evening. At Fountain Candidate Hynes, Representative Meade, and at Colorado City, Attorney Cowell and J. M. Briggs.

By special request the Rev. W. J. R. Taylor, D. D., of Washington, D. C., will preach at the First Presbyterian church to-morrow morning, on "Practical Duty Problems," with particular reference to the Sunday closing of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893.

Mr. Frederic Archer, one of the most prominent of living organists, will give a recital at the First Congregational church next Friday, Oct. 23. The organ will be played by some accomplished amateur, and the occasion will be an event in the musical circles of this city.

The service at the Young Men's Christian Association at 4:15 Sunday afternoon will be conducted by Evangelist R. K. Miller of Chicago. Mr. Miller's sermons are remarkably fine ones, and he will utilize the entertainment by several fine solos. All men are cordially invited.

A young man named Beach, who has been working in the Manitou postoffice, mysteriously disappeared Thursday afternoon and has not been seen since. He told Mrs. Grafton, the wife of the postmaster, that he would return in an hour, but he did not come back and they are considerably worried about him.

Mr. Samuel Aurand, formerly a citizen of this place, died at Goodland, Kans., Oct. 13, 1891, aged 37 years and 6 months. Mr. Aurand was for many years a worthy member of the Evangelical Lutheran church, and was a most excellent Christian character. The funeral occurred in this city yesterday at 3 p. m.

Mr. Reuben Bersey on Thursday evening filed with the county clerk his independent certificate of nomination. The law requires that to secure a certificate of nomination a candidate must present a petition containing 100 names, and this Mr. Bersey has secured. Mr. Bersey has adopted as his device a five-pointed star.

The picture which THE GAZETTE gives its readers to-morrow, first, is the best yet issued. It represents the most modern church in the city, and will be of truly universal interest. Colorado Springs is the City of Churches for the west and nothing will go farther to prove it to non-residents than the picture to be issued to-morrow.

Mr. J. S. Atkinson of the firm of G. W. Atkinson & Son, returned from Pocatello, Idaho, yesterday, where he secured the contract for a $20,000 school building and a large store. He will leave Monday for Pocatello in a few days and will take with him carpenters, stone masons, bricklayers, etc., from this city to do the work.

Mr. R. [illegible], secretary of the Gold Hill Milling and Mining company, received a telegram yesterday stating that the company's stamp mill has arrived in Ouray and preparations are being made to set up at the mouth of Poughkeepsie gulch at Cripple Creek. The engine will be used with the stamp mill, and the same engine will be used for the stamp mill.

Baptist church, Rev. Richard Montgomery, D. D., pastor. Preaching services at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.; Sunday school at 3 p. m. At 7:30 will be given a "Harvest Festival Concert" by the Sunday school, with orchestra accompaniments, and addresses, etc. The collection of the church will occur October 25 (Sunday), Dr. MacArthur of New York being the preacher.

The Pi Delta society of Colorado college held their first meeting of the school year last night in the chapel. There was a good sized attendance present, and after the close of the meeting they gathered around the piano and spent a delightful half hour with college songs and the "Wild Men of Borneo." There is a strong attempt being made to make the Phoenix society a live one, and it is to be hoped that success will meet the effort, and that the meetings will be rousing ones throughout the year.

The fanning machine for the cooling and heating plant at the opera house was placed yesterday. It will hardly be ready for use this evening, but will probably not be needed. There is little doubt but that it will prove a very great success in every way. Persons leaving the main body of the opera house tonight will do well to use the side doors leading into the alley. In this way the opera house can be cleared in a very few minutes. The side doors lead directly onto the alley, which will be lighted.

The reception given from 4 to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the welcoming home of Mrs. Slocum and Mrs. Hagerman was attended by about fifty people. The entire first floor of Montgomery hall was thrown open for the occasion, and the affair passed off very successfully. The receiving ladies were Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Palmer and Miss Valentine, who were assisted by the young ladies of the hall. Seventy-five invitations were sent out for the occasion.

Charlie Johnson, a negro who is wanted in Boulder for shooting and badly wounding a resident of that place, was arrested in this city yesterday morning by Officer Cottrell. The shooting was done about three weeks ago and a description of Johnson has been in the hands of the officers here for several days. A telegram announcing the capture has been sent to the sheriff at Boulder, who will probably arrive here to-day.

A practice game between the Colorado Springs and the College football teams will take place on the Athletic grounds this afternoon at half past two. Two weeks from next Saturday the college plays the Golden team from the School of Mines, and they hope to have a strong team to bring against that of the Golden boys which has been so victorious in the past.

At the Church of the Stranger, United Presbyterian corner of Nevada and Huerfano to-morrow, Rev. J. B. Gregg, pastor of First Congregational church, will preach in the morning, the sermon being "Going On Unto Perfection." In the evening the pastor, Rev. R. R. Bell, will preach. Sabbath school at 3 p. m. Y. P. S. C. E. 6:30. All are most cordially invited to attend.

MANITOU.

Editor Fred Pearson and family returned yesterday from their visit to Glenwood Springs.

The Pike's Peak Railroad company is now waiting with cords of wood, which, it is said, will take the place of coal in their engines.

The Pike's Peak train will make its last trip to the summit to-day.

Mrs. Bertha and Anna Trite are stopping at the Cliff house on their return from Europe. The latter won the winner of a prize ticket to Europe and return for that best scholarship in the Seattle schools.

NOTICE.

I shall be a candidate for superintendent of Schools of El Paso county, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday in November, and will be thankful for the support of the voters at the polls. My reason for taking this step will be made known later on.

A NEW ADDITION.

Big money has always been made in [illegible] in this city. Bigger money will be made in the future by a couple of lots left. We have the exclusive agency of two of the best lots left in the city, and can satisfy the most critical taste. Those who can see the growth of the city's growth would retail them in lots. They are bound to advance at hard times, prices retrograde rapidly, not so here.
